

About NSS

The National Service Scheme (NSS) is a Government of India-sponsored public service programme under the Department of Youth Affairs, Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports. Launched in 1969 during the birth centenary year of Mahatma Gandhi, NSS aims to develop the personality and character of students through community service. It is a voluntary organization comprising students from colleges, universities, and higher secondary (+2) institutions, working to strengthen the bond between educational institutions and the communities they serve.

The National Service Scheme is an organization where a volunteer discovers and rediscovers their hidden talents in countless ways, revealing new dimensions of their personality. It provides numerous opportunities for individuals to grow and flourish in a nurturing environment. In its broadest sense, NSS directly and indirectly instills the qualities and values essential for life's journey.

NSS not only strives for social upliftment but also focuses on the holistic personality development of its volunteers, who will become the nation's future workforce. By engaging in meaningful community service, volunteers develop into responsible, compassionate, and socially aware citizens who are better equipped to address the challenges faced by society.

NSS is an exceptional platform for overcoming fear, hesitation, and a lack of self-confidence. It is a place where actions carry greater significance than words. A volunteer with determination and commitment can break free from the shackles of fear and transform their aspirations into meaningful action. It is a journey of self-discovery and self-actualization, enabling individuals to realize their inner potential while serving society.

The motto of the National Service Scheme is "Not Me But You" (स्वयं से पहले आप), reflecting the spirit of selfless service and concern for the welfare of others.

Aim of the National Service Scheme (NSS)

The primary aim of the National Service Scheme (NSS) is to develop the personality and character of students through voluntary community service. It seeks to instill social responsibility, leadership, discipline, and a spirit of selfless service among young people while strengthening the bond between educational institutions and the community.

The objectives of NSS include:

- Understanding the community in which volunteers work.
- Identifying the needs and problems of the community and participating in their solution.
- Developing a sense of social and civic responsibility.
- Applying education to solve practical community problems.
- Acquiring leadership qualities and democratic values.
- Promoting national integration, communal harmony, and social justice.
- Developing the capacity to meet emergencies and natural disasters.
- Encouraging teamwork, discipline, and service-oriented thinking.

Motto of the National Service Scheme (NSS)

The motto of NSS is:

"Not Me But You" (स्वयं से पहले आप)

This motto reflects the essence of democratic living and selfless service. It emphasizes the importance of placing the needs of others before one's own and encourages volunteers to develop empathy, compassion, and a commitment to community welfare. It inspires NSS volunteers to work for the betterment of society without expecting personal gain.

The motto reminds every volunteer that true leadership and personal growth come through serving others and contributing to the nation's development.
